

The Paulsboro Refining Company is grateful to each and every Essential Worker who throughout this pandemic continues to keep our families safe and healthy, and who ensures our communities have access to necessary goods and services. This includes our own employees who have worked tirelessly throughout the pandemic to safely and reliably manufacture the fuels that help provide the highest standards of living and mobility in our history.

Stay safe, South Jersey!

Travel Tales

Fly Eagles Fly

Below, in support of their favorite football team (including Raven fans), family members pose with copies of The Record Today during the summer of 2019 near an eagle's nest on top of Mt. Roberts in Juneau, Alaska.

Mickleton resident Janice DeVault Gibson (PHS '63) writes, "Juneau is the land of eagles. We saw them everywhere throughout Juneau; in the fields, mountains, near the roadways, on street lights and more. It was amazing!"

Favorite get away — Ray and Angela Gezzi of Paulsboro take a copy of The Record Today on their annual vacation to Aruba in December. The couple spent seven days on the "Happy Island." Says Ray, "We had a blast!"
